The Evaluation Report of the Inter-District A.C.E League Imbizo 2026

Introduction

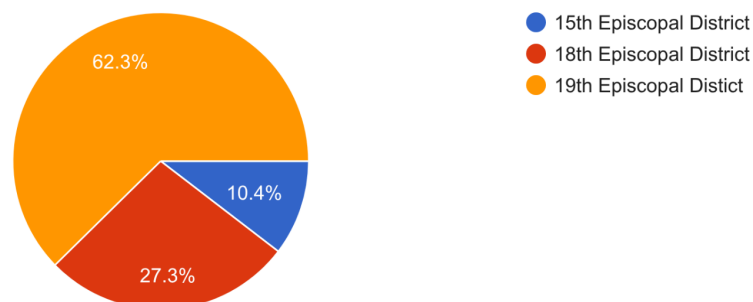

The evaluation of the Imbizo, based on approximately forty participants' responses to all questions, provides a clear and balanced picture of both the strengths and areas that require attention. Overall, the event was experienced as meaningful and impactful, particularly in its spiritual dimension.

District Representation and Participation

The evaluation results reflect participation based on responses submitted through the feedback link rather than overall district attendance. The majority of responses were received from the 19th Episcopal District, with comparatively fewer submissions from the 18th and 15th Episcopal Districts.

Which episcopal district do you fall under?

Registration Process

The registration process was widely regarded as efficient and user-friendly. Approximately 85–90% of respondents indicated that it was easy or very easy to complete, demonstrating that participants experienced minimal difficulty in registering for the event. This reflects effective planning and execution in this area.

Was the registration process clear and easy to complete?

81 responses

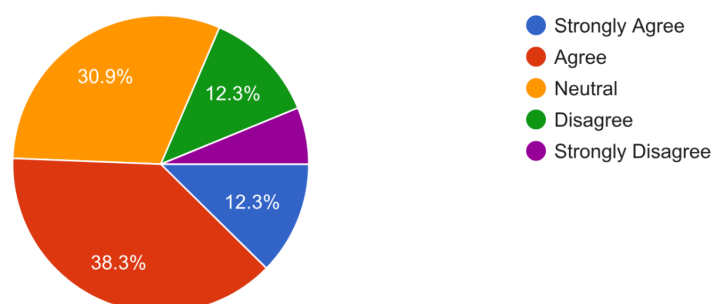

Venue Accessibility

When considering the venue, the feedback presents a more mixed picture. While approximately 70% to 75% of respondents agreed that the venue was accessible and reasonably easy to locate, a notable minority of about 25% to 30% experienced difficulties. These challenges were largely linked to last-minute venue changes and the lack of adequate facilities. This suggests that although the venue worked for many, better planning and earlier communication would improve the experience for all participants.

Is the venue easy to find and accessible by public transport and private cars?

81 responses

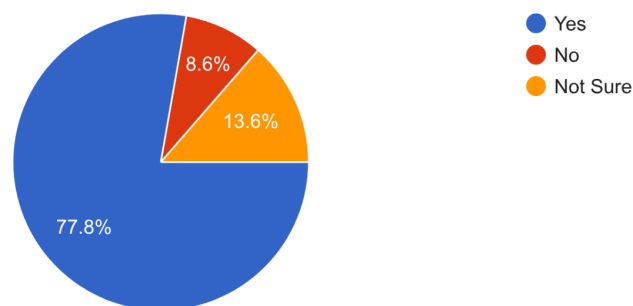

Accommodation as a Determining Factor

Accommodation also played a significant role in attendance. Nearly 80% of respondents indicated that accommodation influenced their decision to attend, while 8.6% said it did not, and 13.6% were unsure. This shows that accommodation is an important consideration for most participants, particularly those travelling from a distance, and should be carefully factored into future planning.

Was accommodation an important factor in determining attendance?

81 responses

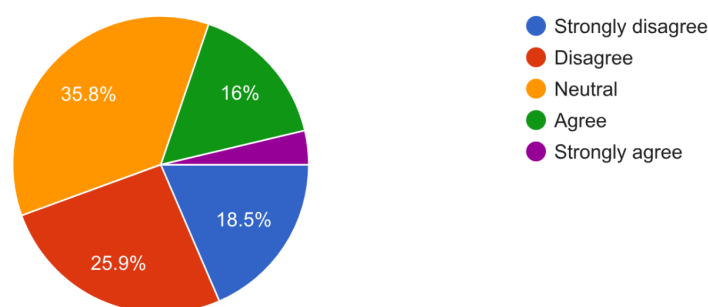

Logistics and Transportation

Logistics and transport arrangements emerged as one of the weaker areas of the Imbizo. A significant proportion of respondents 35.8% remained neutral, suggesting uncertainty or inconsistency in their experience. This is followed by 25.9% who disagreed that logistics were handled effectively, while only 16% expressed agreement and a smaller remaining percentage strongly agreed. These findings suggest that while some aspects of logistics were functional, a considerable number of participants were either unconvinced or dissatisfied. This highlights the need for improved coordination, clearer communication, and more efficient planning to ensure a smoother logistical experience in future Imbizo gatherings.

Were logistics issues regarding transportation from the host church to the current venue addressed in a timely manner?

Interim Committee Performance

Despite these challenges, the work of the interim committee was generally well received. Approximately 75% to 80% of respondents rated the committee's performance as good or excellent, reflecting appreciation for the progress made and the effort invested. However, about 20% to 25% felt that the work was average or below expectations, indicating that there is still room for growth and refinement.

Pre-Imbizo Communication

Communication before the Imbizo was moderately effective but not without shortcomings. Around 60% to 65% of participants found communication to be effective, while 35% to 40% expressed concerns, particularly regarding late updates and delayed distribution of the programme. This suggests that improving the timing, consistency, and clarity of communication will significantly enhance participant preparedness and overall satisfaction.

How effective was communication before the Imbizo (e.g., announcements, updates, information shared)?

81 responses

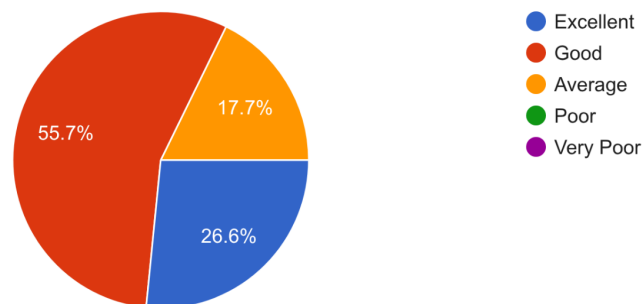

Programme and Content Quality

In terms of programme and content, the Imbizo performed strongly. Approximately 80% to 85% of respondents rated the programme as good to excellent, highlighting the quality of preaching, worship, and presentations. Only a small percentage felt that the content was average or below standard. This indicates that the core purpose and message of the Imbizo resonated well with participants.

How would you rate the overall programme/content of the Imbizo?

Time Management and Scheduling

In terms of programme and content, the Imbizo performed strongly. Approximately 80% to 85% of respondents rated the programme as good to excellent, highlighting the quality of preaching, worship, and presentations. Only a small percentage felt that the content was average or below standard. This indicates that the core purpose and message of the Imbizo resonated well with participants.

However, time management proved to be inconsistent. About half of the respondents—50% to 55%—were satisfied with how time was handled, while the remaining 45% to 50% expressed dissatisfaction due to delays and scheduling challenges. This highlights the importance of stricter adherence to the programme to ensure a smoother and more predictable flow of activities.

Was the event well-organised in terms of time (starting, ending, sessions)?

81 responses

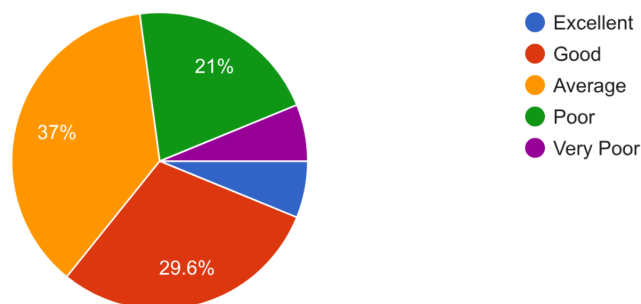

Facilities and Infrastructure

Facilities, including sound, sanitation, seating, and catering, were among the most significant concerns raised. Only about 40% to 45% of participants expressed satisfaction, while a majority of 55% to 60% reported dissatisfaction. Issues such as poor sound quality, unclean restrooms, and long queues for food negatively affected the experience. This area requires urgent attention, as it directly impacts the comfort and well-being of attendees.

How would you rate the facilities (seating, sound, cleanliness, etc.)?

81 responses

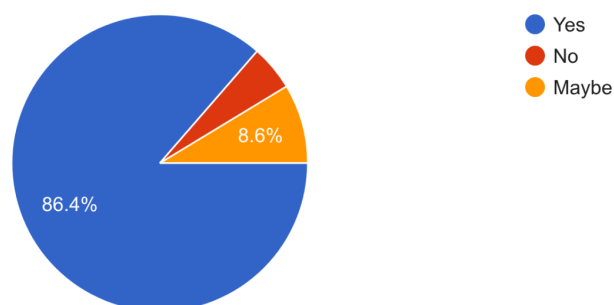

Relevance of Topics

On a more positive note, the relevance of the topics discussed was highly affirmed. Around 85% to 90% of participants agreed that the topics were relevant and met their expectations. This demonstrates that the content of the Imbizo was meaningful and aligned with the needs and interests of those present.

Were the topics discussed relevant to your expectations?

81 responses

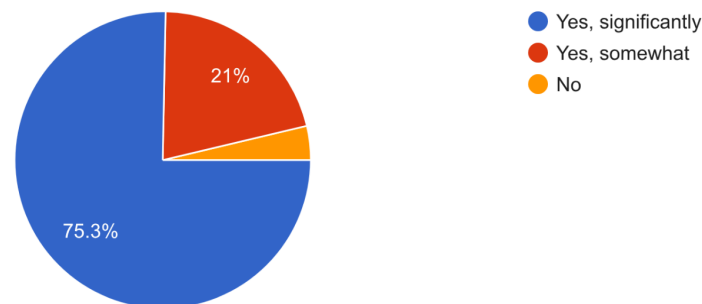

Spiritual and Personal Impact

Most importantly, the spiritual and personal impact of the Imbizo was overwhelmingly positive. An estimated 90% to 95% of respondents reported that the event had a significant positive effect on them spiritually or personally. This confirms that, at its core, the Imbizo successfully fulfilled its primary purpose of spiritual growth and engagement.

Did the Imbizo positively impact you spiritually or personally?

Strengths of the Imbizo and Areas for Improvement

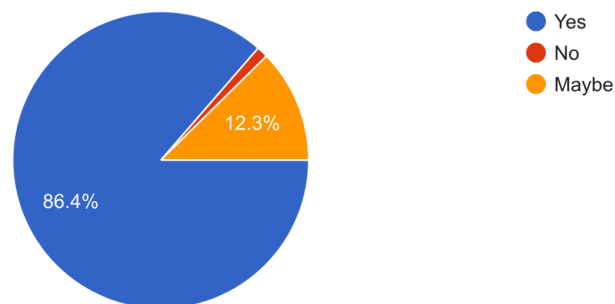

Participants also highlighted several aspects that worked particularly well. Worship services and preaching were most frequently mentioned, followed by the overall programme structure and collaboration between districts. At the same time, recurring concerns included catering, which was mentioned by about 60% to 65% of respondents, as well as issues related to the planning and safety of the street revival, noted by approximately 55% to 60%. Time management, communication gaps, and venue-related challenges were also commonly raised.

Future Attendance Intentions

Despite the challenges identified, the overall sentiment remains positive. A strong majority—around 80% to 85%—indicated that they would attend future Imbizos, while a smaller group expressed uncertainty, and only a very small percentage indicated they would not return. This reflects a continued commitment and belief in the value of the Imbizo.

Would you attend a future Imbizo?

81 responses

Conclusion

In conclusion, the Imbizo can confidently be seen as a meaningful and successful gathering that achieved its primary purpose of spiritual growth and unity. With over 90% of participants reporting a positive personal and spiritual impact, and approximately 80–85% expressing willingness to attend future events, it is clear that the Imbizo resonated deeply with those who attended. The strong appreciation for the programme, worship, and preaching further highlights the value of the gathering. While some operational challenges were identified, these provide constructive opportunities for improvement rather than diminishing the overall success. Ultimately, the Imbizo has laid a solid foundation, demonstrating both the commitment of its participants and the potential for even greater impact in future gatherings.
